Morgan leads Holmes to new heights

by Rosie Rigby

Under the leadership of its president, Dr. Starkey A. Morgan Sr., Holmes Community College continued to celebrate 75 years of excellence in education and look forward to many more years of serving the needs of the citizens in its nine county district.

From innovative uses of technology in teaching to building state-of-the art facilities, Holmes continues to break new ground.

The dedication of the Industrial Technology Complex at the Grenada Center represented the culmination of an unprecented partnership among education, government and industry.

In addition to providing needed space for a number of Holmes programs, the facility will also be utilized by local industry for training.

Throughout the year, construction continued on the Goodman and Ridgeland campuses. A new men's dorm and a new women's dorm, under construction on the Goodman Campus, will provide housing for 120 students.

The new Media Center on the Ridgeland Campus will replace the library housed in Ridgeland Hall and include reading and conferences rooms as well as work rooms and offices for the library staff.

Always an important event of the school year, the 2000 homecoming was particularly exciting, completing Holmes' 75th anniversary celebration with a giant birthday cake, the compilation of momentos for a time capsule and a fireworks display after the presentation of the court during halftime.

Celebrating not only the past but looking also to the future, the groundbreaking ceremonies for the chapel were also held during homecoming. Dr. Morgan and Doris Belk, chairman of the chapel committee, spoke at the groundbreaking ceremony.

Dr. Morgan's vision of the college includes utilizing the latest in technology to improve communication, teaching and learning on all three campuses of Holmes.

Within the past few years, this has included putting a computer with internet access on virtually every faculty and staff member's desk and making the same technology available to students in numerous labs.

Expansion of the online course offerings provides a convenient alternative to the traditional classroom for many students.

point for the players, coaches and fans.

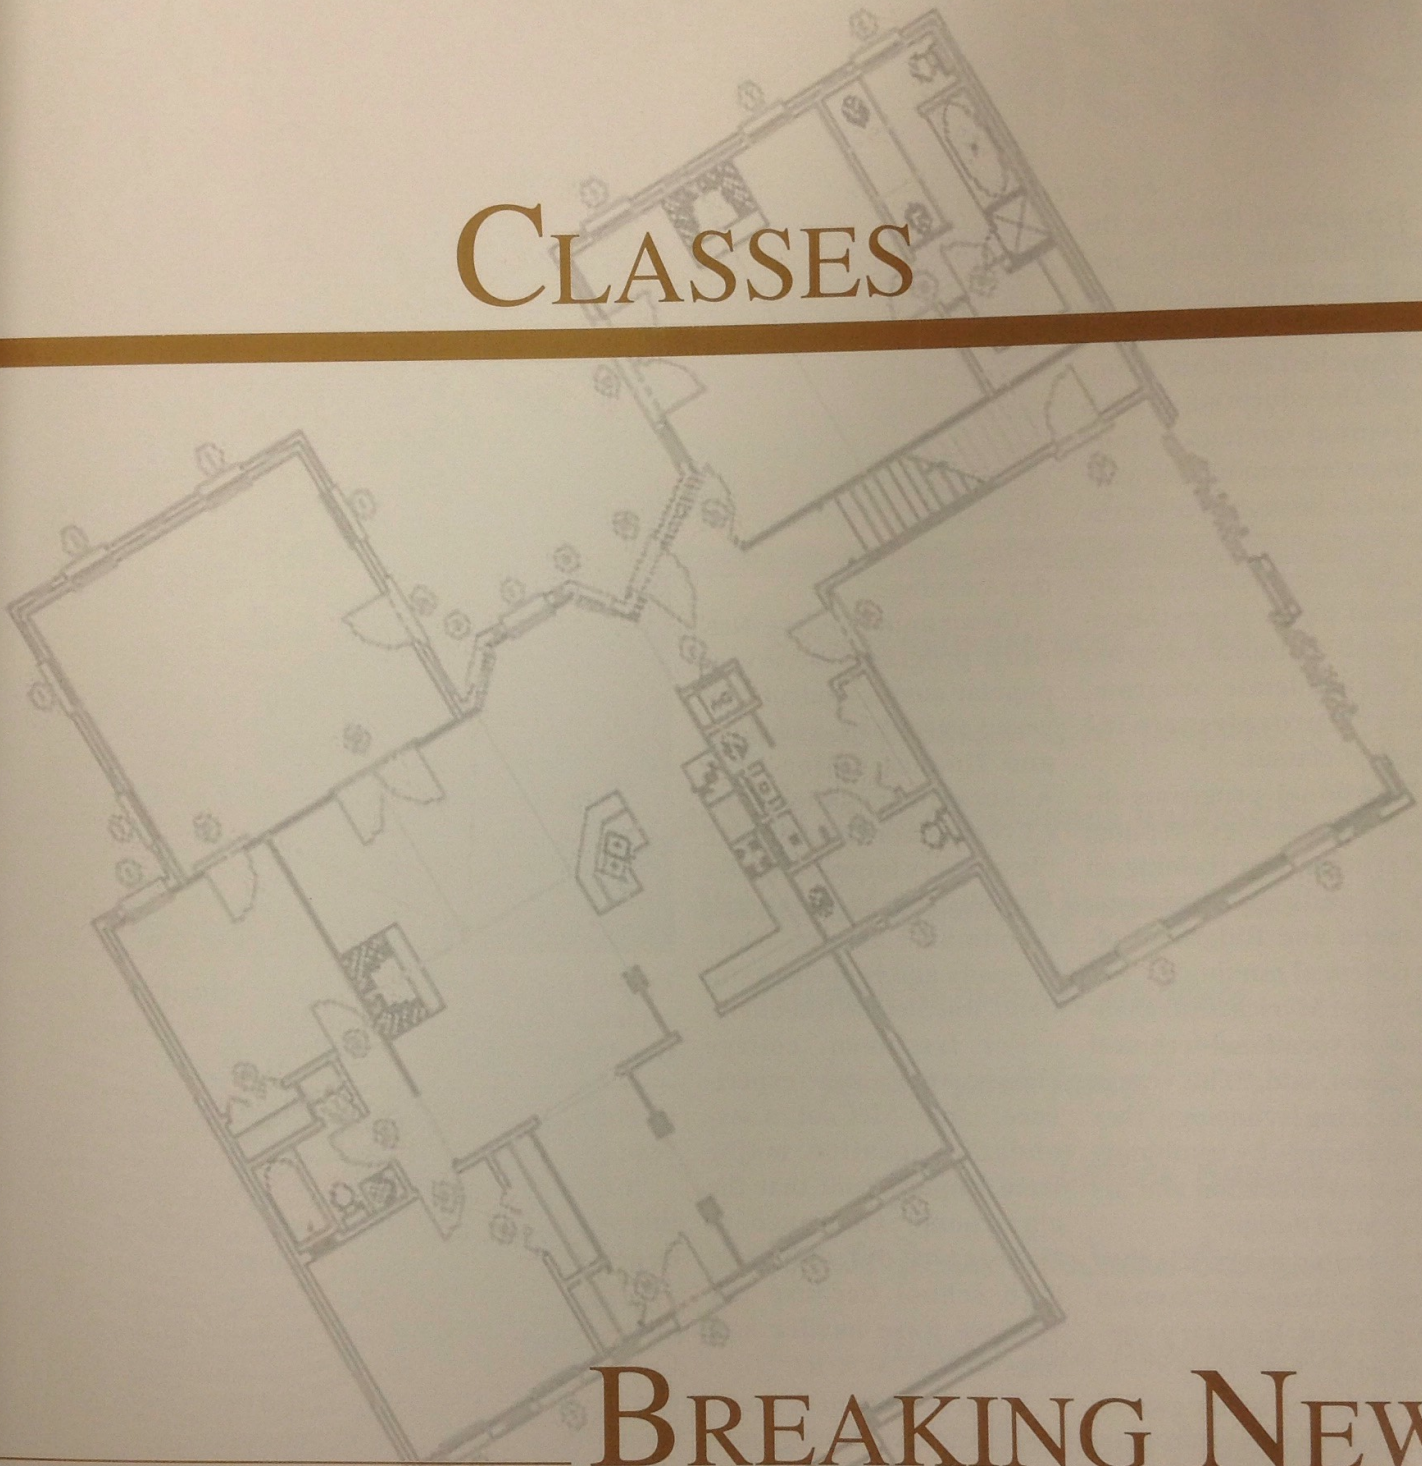

Dr. Morgan's leadership reaches beyond the confines of Holmes Community College's three campuses.

Serving as chair of the Mississippi Association of Community and Junior colleges, Dr. Morgan works with the presidents of all the public community and junior colleges in the state for the betterment of the two-year educational institutions.

Never remaining stagnant, each year of Holmes' history is punctuated with signs of progress. Whether through increased enrollment, expanded course offerings or new buildings, Holmes Community College continues to break new ground.

Breaking New Ground in the Classroom

Throughout the year the administration, faculty, and staff from all three campuses of Holmes Community College, worked together to improve the education of each individual student. Many changes are made each year to make classes better for the student.

Each campus offers many areas of study. From the vocational- technical program to the academic program, Holmes provides a wide range of classes.

Vocational programs include cosmetology, welding, and truck driver training on the Goodman Campus. Grenada and Ridgeland offer practical nursing.

Dwight Myrick, district director of vocational-technical education, said, "This year in engineering technology, they made changes by combining industrial education and architectural design."

According to Myrick, they made the change to "keep up with what industry demanded."

"Holmes' primary goal of the academic program is to prepare students for the four-year university," said Luther Boggan, academic dean on the Goodman Campus and district vice president for academic programs. "Vocational technical programs are designed to prepare students for the work force."

Boggan also mentioned the Weekend College, which was offered on the Ridgeland Campus. The program allowed students to "take a full load of courses." Classes were held on Thursday and Friday evenings and Saturday mornings.

Community College Network programs were very popular among students this year. Angel Bell, a banking and finance major from Ackerman, explained the CCN program when she said, "It was very impressive. Mrs Kimble taught us on the Goodman Campus, while Grenada and Ridgeland students watched on satellite."

For freshmen, college classes were a new experience. Julie McCool, a secondary education major from Eupora, said that the classroom experience at Holmes was different from high school because the "classes were harder and rules weren't as strict."

Even sophomores faced new challenges. Biology major Tara Martin stated that this was a "new and different year for her." She took her "first online course ever!" Martin also said that she had "harder classes."

The population of students at Holmes increased this year.

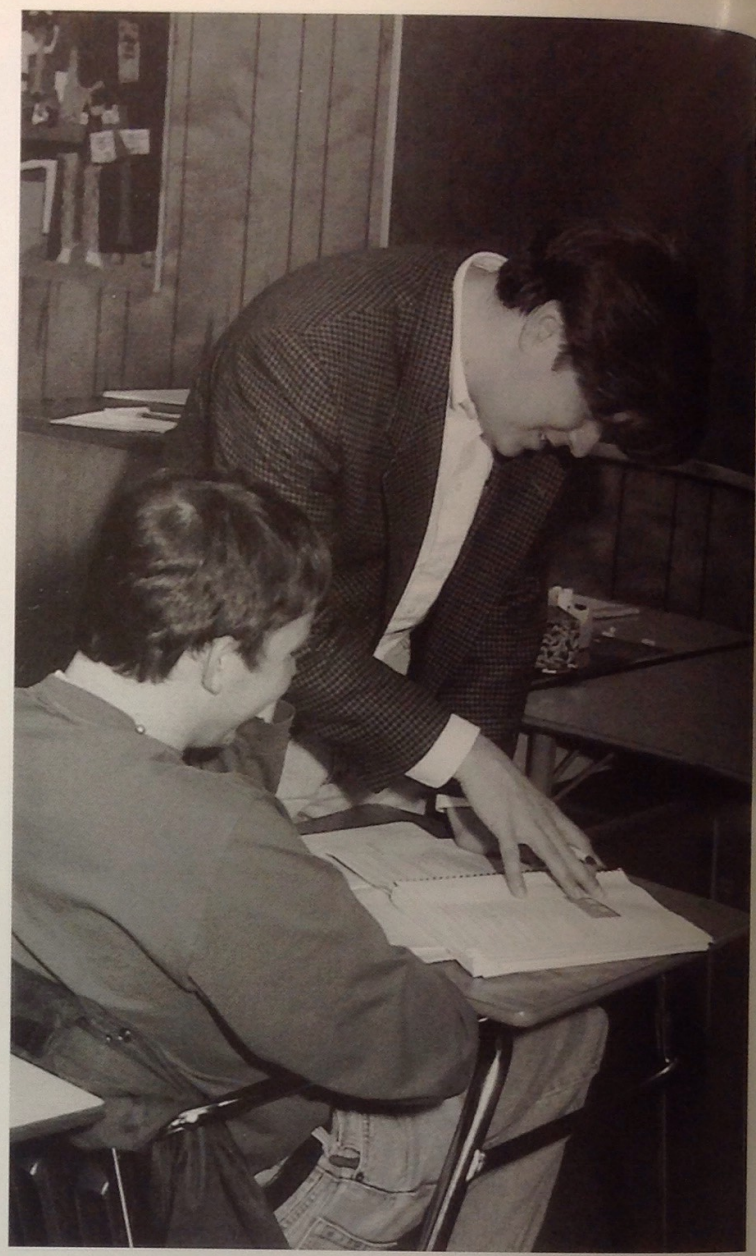

"Class sizes were bigger this year," said English instructor Steven Deaton.

Fran Cox, mathematics instructor on the Goodman Campus, tried something new this year in her classroom. She "incorporated mathematical study skills into four sections of intermediate algebra." She expressed that this was very helpful to her math students.

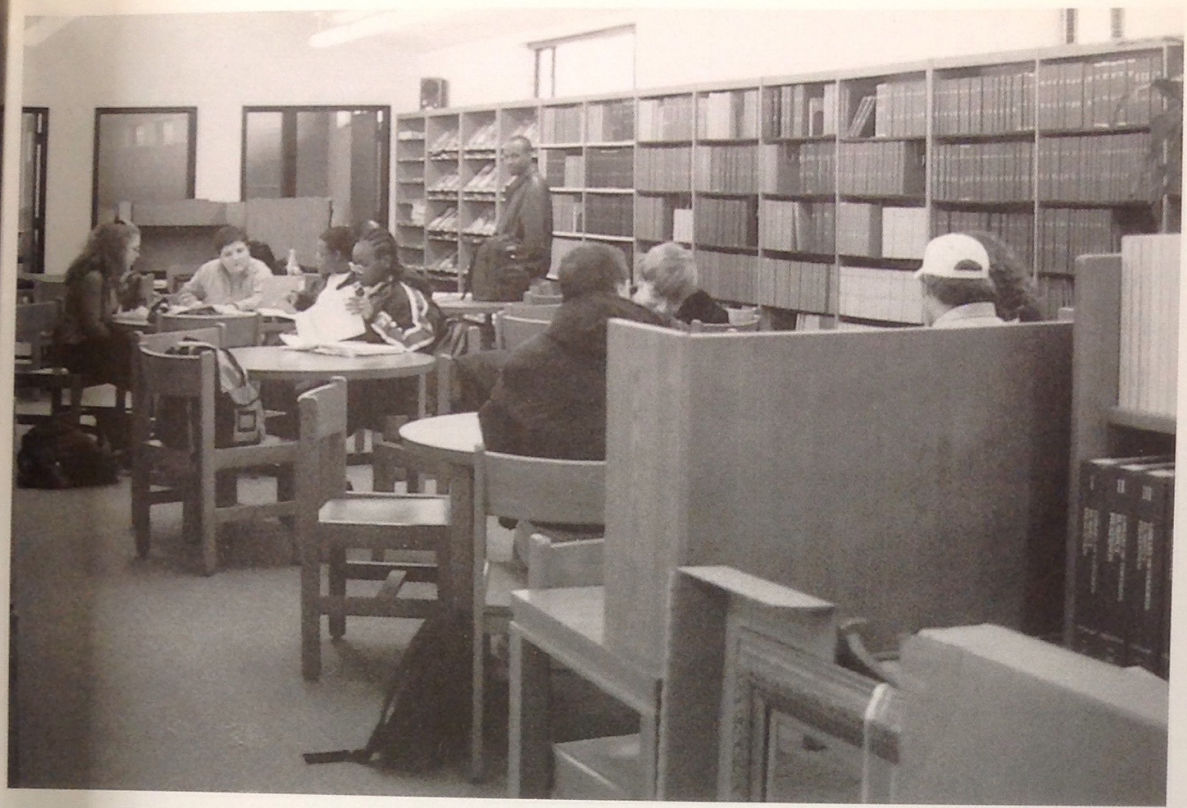

At Holmes each class had a different atmosphere. Andra Mooney, English Instructor on the Goodman Campus, explained that "each class had its own personality." She said she "never expected eight o'clock to be like nine o'clock."

Each individual at Holmes had their own outlook on the classes.

Whether you were interested in pratical nursing or elementary education, Holmes Community College helped prepare you for a brighter future.

English instructor Steven Deaton helps Brian Harkins, a sophomore from Yazoo City, with a class assignment on the Goodman Campus.

Students from the Grenada Center gather in the library to study and complete their homework assignments.

Learning Beyond the Blackboard

Every day, advancements are made within the realm of technology and these advancements impact our lives in a myriad of different ways. Technology definitely plays a role in the way the instructors teach and the students learn at Holmes.

One problem that multi-campus colleges like Holmes have had in the past was the problem of having an instructor on one campus who was also needed to teach on the other campuses.

This problem is solved with the Community College Network.

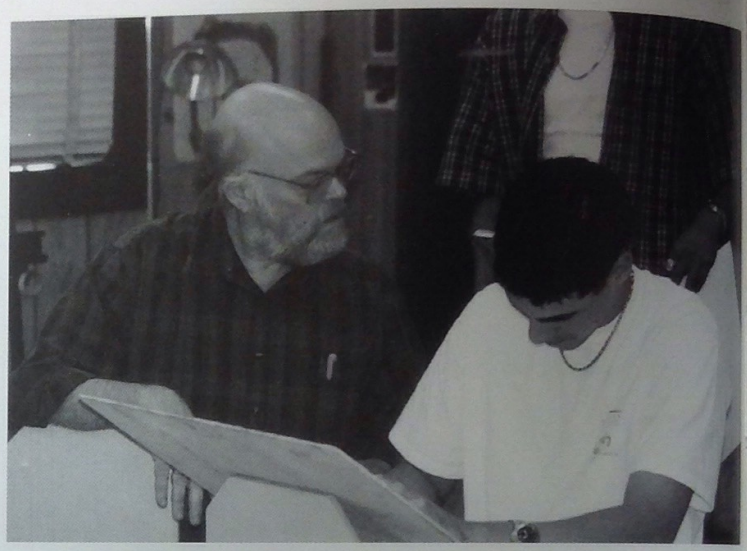

Luther Boggan, academic dean on the Goodman Campus and vice president for Academic Programs, said that this new program was very helpful to students at Holmes.

By way of telecommunication, the CCN program allowed students to "take a course on the Goodman Campus and sit in Ridgeland or Grenada without a teacher being present," said Boggan.

Using a classroom located in McMurrough Library on the Goodman Campus in which all the necessary equipment is contained, cameras record the instructor teaching and send this information over the Community College Network, where it is seen on monitors by students at the other campuses. All three of Holmes' campuses have the ability to send and receive images.

Maria Edwards, a Spanish and French instructor on the Goodman Campus, taught Elementary Spanish II through the CCN program. She taught on the Goodman Campus, while Grenada and Ridgeland students listened and watched her on the television screen.

Online courses continue to break records, in terms of both enrollment and number of courses offered.

However, not all advancements in teaching are determined by technology. Rather than use cutting-edge technology, three Goodman Campus instructors decided to use good, old-fashioned teamwork to improve their music appreciation classes.

Gary Sheppeard, Michael Yates and Larry Bradford decided to use the "team teaching" technique for this course. After dividing the semester into three sections, each instructor chose his area of expertise and taught that segment of the course.

Media Center Breaks New Ground in Ridgeland

by Julie Eastland

A new member was added to Holmes Community College this past year. The addition of the new media center located on the Ridgeland campus was welcomed with open arms.

The media center, or sometimes called a library, was built to meet the needs of the expanding school.

Ridgeland campus Librarian Deb Switzer said, "The new media center has more to offer students because of the larger space and the privacy that the center offers." She also said that one of the goals of the new building was to be more technologically advanced.

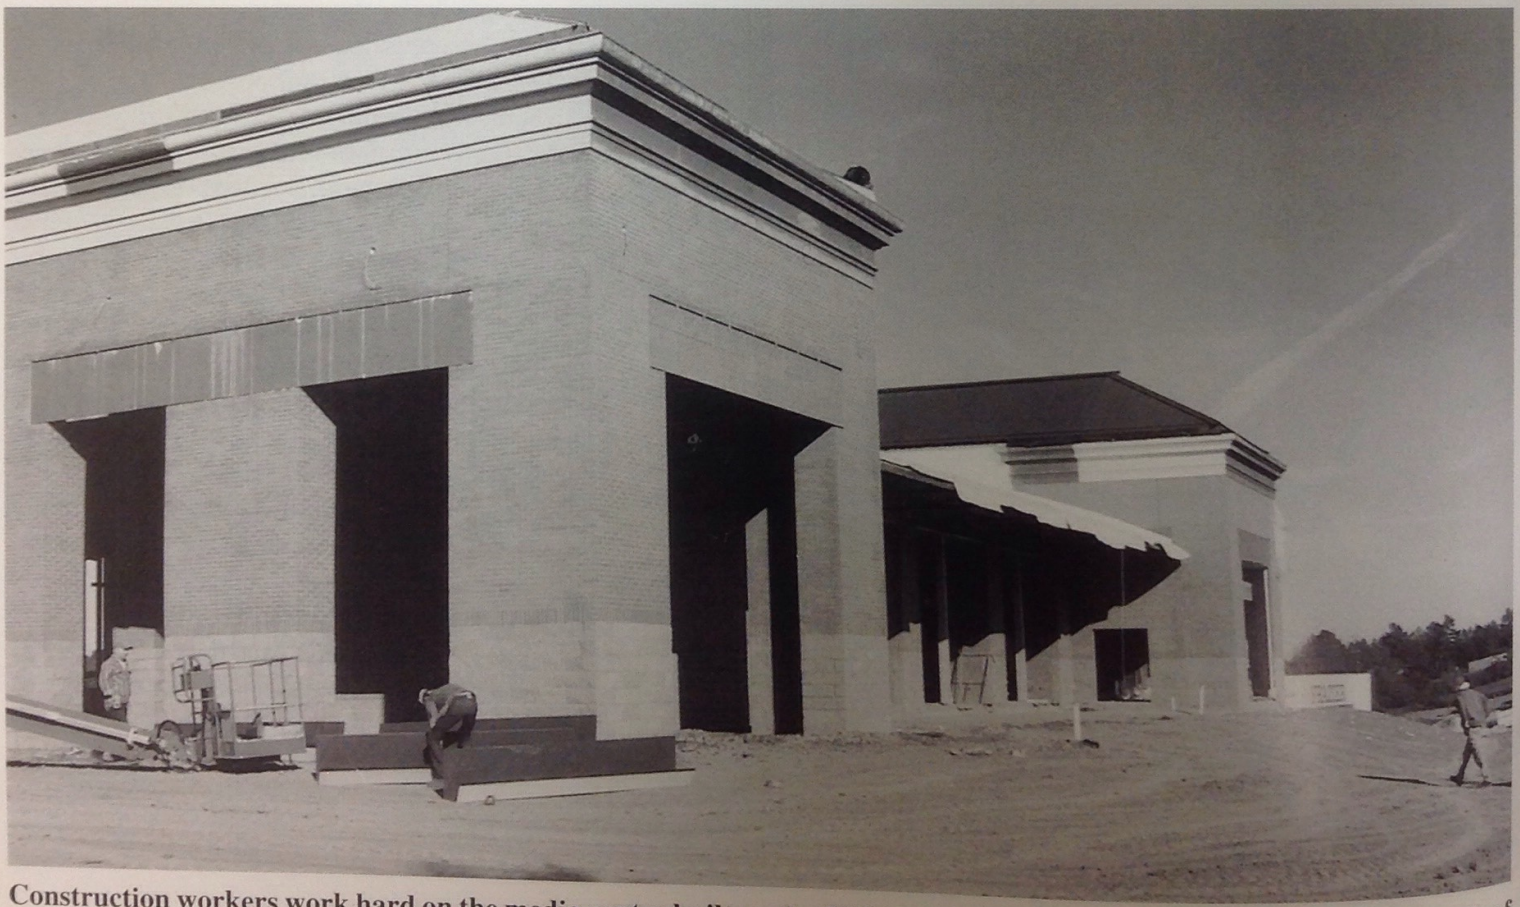

The estimated cost of the 11,000 square foot building was $2.2 million. The building was opened to students late in the spring semester.

The new center offers much more than the old media center. The new center has a large conference room, a media storage room, and a small conference or work area. The building has a security system, unlike the old media center, which is now used for Student Support Services.

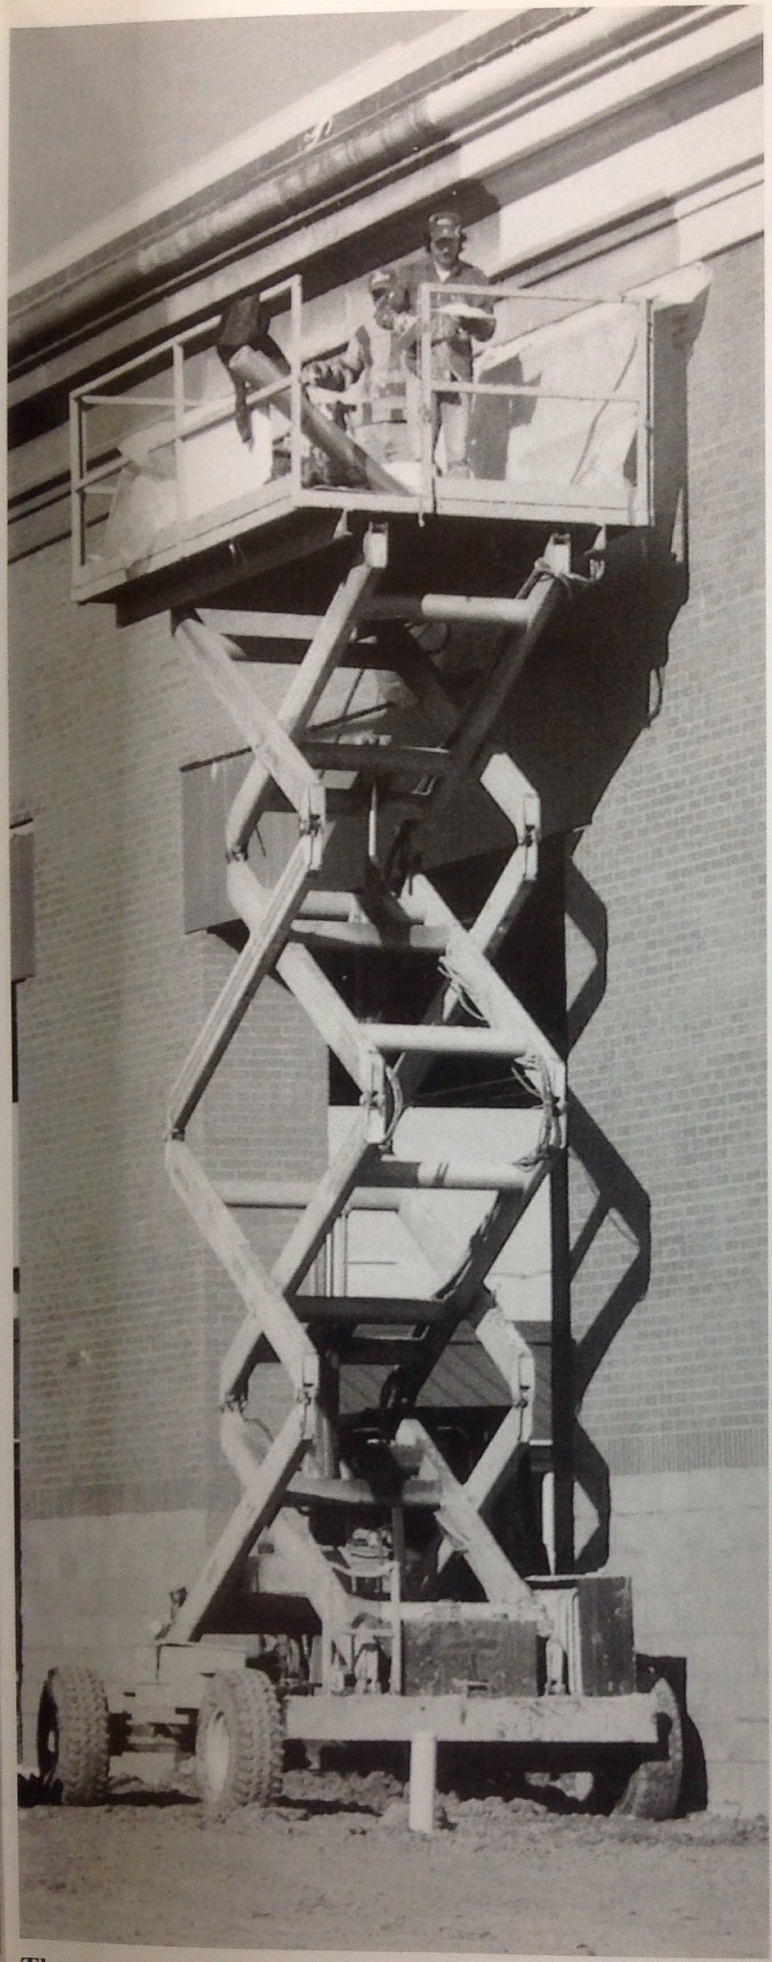

Decorated in all natural wood,the building is very beautiful. Black trusses run along the ceiling to accent the maroon decor.

The staff is anticipating more use of the library.

The computer-ready outlets in the walls of the media center make studying and completing projects easier on the students.

The center was also built with more privacy in mind. The center has many private study rooms for small groups or individuals.

The addition of the media center was just one more way to show that Holmes Community College is breaking new ground.

It took time, money and dedication to complete the Industrial Training Complex at the Grenada Center.

The new complex was the result of community effort and industrial service. Holmes Community College, Heatcraft and the city of Grenada made the complex possible through their many efforts of contributing money and planning over the past four years.

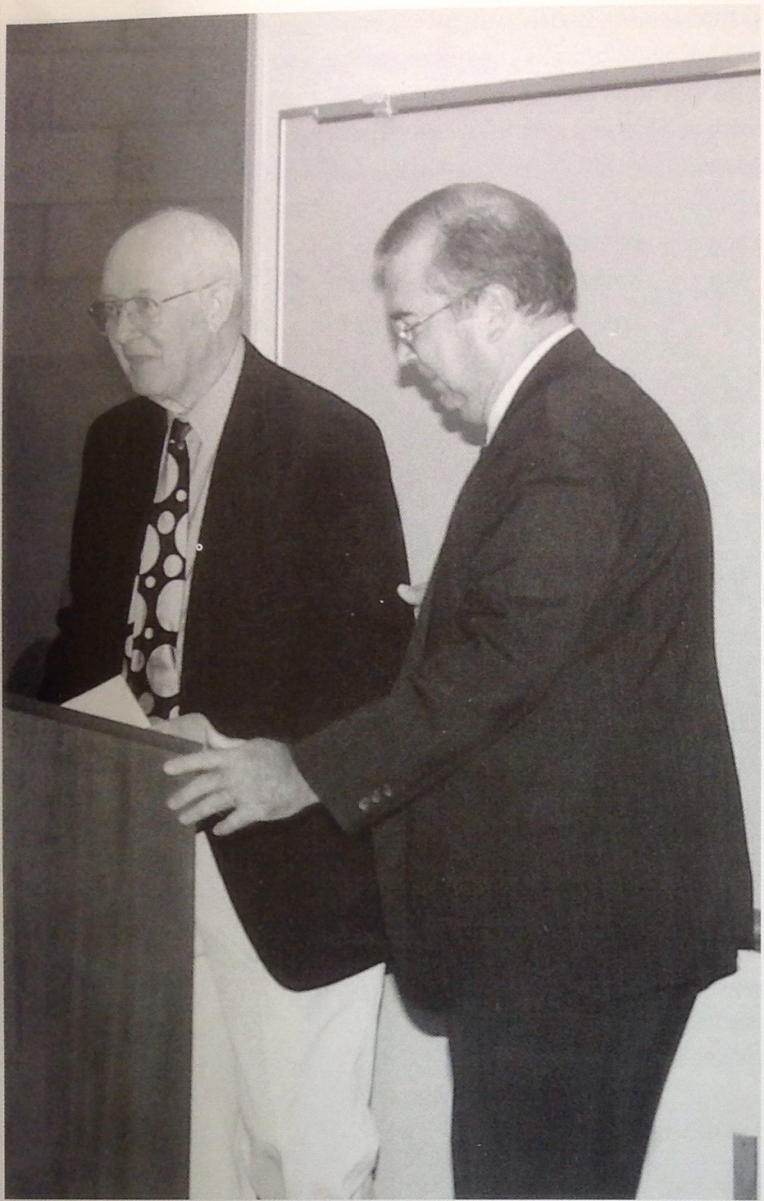

The new training facility contained 32,000 square feet of space for students to work and learn. It housed several features such as a hydraulics lab, computer lab, computer assisted drafting lab, instrumentation lab, program logic control lab and industrial electronics lab.

The two large classrooms allowed local industries more space to bring their equipment in for a short period of time, while employees were trained.

Two industrial shops housed the machine tool operation program, and a welding area for the brazing classes.

The machine tool operation program moved from the Goodman Campus into the new industrial shop.

The multimedia room provided satellite down link and a teleconferencing, interactive video.

This room provided state-of-the-art technology which allowed the students to gain better training and educational opportunities.

The dedication and grand opening of the Industrial Technology Complex was held in the Senator and Mrs. John T. Keeton Multi-media Room last August. The dedication was made by Dr. Starkey A. Morgan Sr., president of Holmes Community College.

The center was designed to better prepare individuals for the workforce by training them in a variety of areas. The center will allow them the space needed to help each student accomplish his or her long term goals.

The center would still be a dream if it weren't for all the dedicated supporters and greatly needed contributions. Students benefitted and will continue to benefit from this new facility.

PTK Chapters Nominate All-State Academic Team Members

Six students from Holmes were selected to represent Holmes as members of the 2001 Mississippi All-State Academic Team. This was sponsored by Phi Theta Kappa International Honor Society, the Mississippi Association of Community and Junior Colleges, and "The Clarion Ledger."

Phi Theta Kappa is the honor society for two-year colleges, with the international headquarters located in Jackson. Each Phi Theta Kappa chapter in the state chooses two of its members to represent them on the All-State Academic Team. The selection process is based on the students' scholastic achievements, community involvement, leadership capabilities and college service activities. The judges choose 10 students as members of the first team based on their application, an essay written by the student and recommendations from faculty members.

Student Life Alive at Holmes

by Christy Burrell

NASA has been trying to no avail to locate life on Mars since the beginning of their existence. It is now believed that they have been wasting their time because the real life is here at Holmes.

Campus life is more than just old books, grueling classes, and endless studying. "We have movie nights, pool and spades tournaments, dances, waterslides, talent shows, and guest speakers," quoted Monifa Beal, a sophmore from Jackson and president of the Student Government Association, "so no one should feel left out."

On the few nights when there is nothing going on campus, the students often take advantage of its close proximity to Jackson. Scott Ray, a sophomore from Kosciusko, said, "My girlfriend and I usually go to Jackson to eat and see a movie."

The Sidewalk Cafe provided Goodman Campus students sophomore Daniel Walker and freshman Jamie Hill with a few laughs and sweets.

When you live on campus, just hanging out in the dorm can be quite an experience. "Student life to me is about friends and at Holmes I enjoy being with them. I have made so many new friends both last year and this year. Next year I will miss the crazy little things we do together and somehow find a way to stay out of jail," said Jennifer Dees, a sophomore from Yazoo City.

No matter what kind of student, HCC offers something for everybody in a very close community. "Holmes is a very close community because our student life is tight. When the students are not getting to know each other in the learning environment, we always find something to do. Getting to know the other college students is the best part about Holmes," said Melissa Stoner, a sophomore from Brandon.

Raggedy Ann and Andy stopped by the Grenada Center just in time for Raggedy Ann to win the Halloween contest sponsored by the Student Government Association. Sophomore Jamie Bailey dressed as Raggedy Ann, while pre-med major Adam Milner was Raggedy Andy.

by Jessica Breazeale

Sponsored by the Student Government Association, the winter formal brought fun and joy to the Goodman Campus. It was time for some dance change to take place here at Holmes, said Monifa Beal, SGA president. Preparations for the formal took a lot of time, especially to make the decorations and scenery. The SGA started preparing for the formal several months before it actually took place.

During the formal people danced, sang and enjoyed refreshments. Approximately 100 students attended the winter formal.

The formal gave the students the opportunity to dress in formal wear and show off their beauty and talent.

"I love to get dressed up and I love to dance so the winter formal was great for me," said Julie Eastland, a sophomore from Brandon.

Suzie's Sounds Disc Jockey was the DJ for the winter formal.

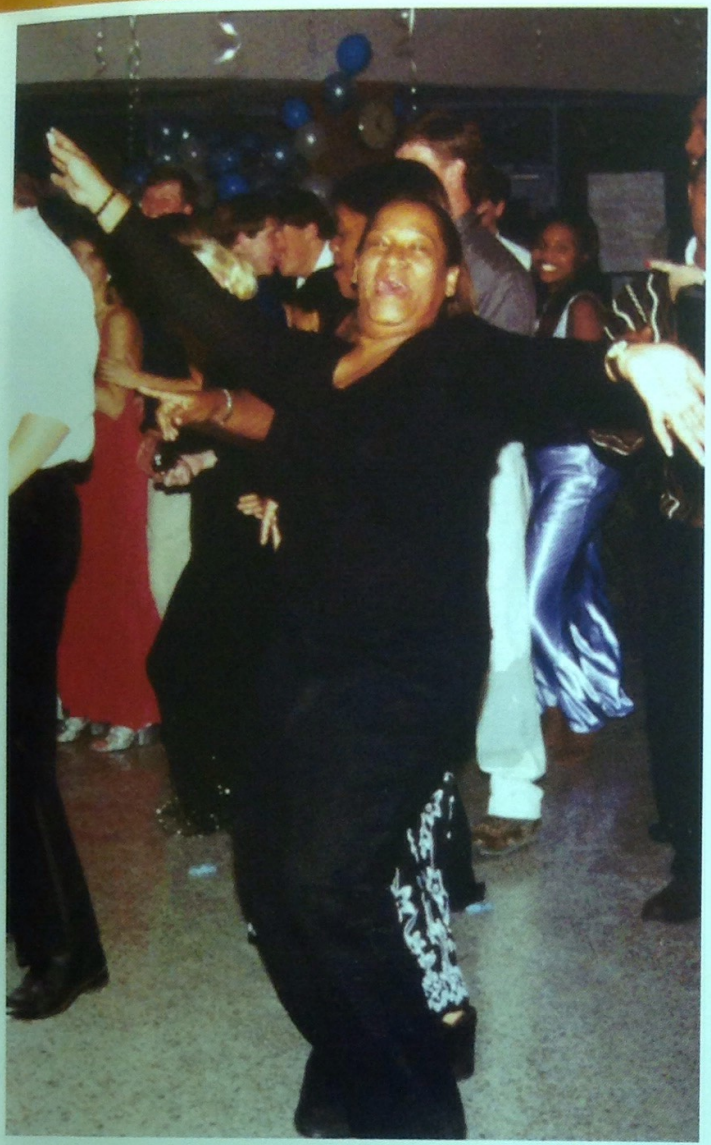

"The winter carnival was very exciting to attend and the DJ had a very nice selection of music which was played," said Kelly Kendrick, a freshman from Bentonia. Most of the music was R&B type along with "Y.M.C.A." and songs from "Grease," Little Richard and Creed to list a few.

Some people took this as an opportunity to socialize with new people.

"While attending the winter carnival, it was a time for me to meet and get to know some new friends,"said Jennifer Smith, a sophomore from Raleigh.

Parade of Beauties

by Christy Burrell

Late November on the Goodman Campus of Holmes Community College was an exciting time for 45 young women as they gathered from all three campuses to compete for the title of most beautiful. The Parade of Beauties was held Frank B. Branch Coliseum.

Keeping with Holmes Community College's 75th anniversary theme, "Celebrating 75 Years of Excellence in Education," the theme was "Celebrating a Tradition of Beauty." Many of the young women were breaking new ground in their own way by making the Holmes pageant their first to compete in.

The festivities got started in the afternoon when the judges met with each individual contestant for a private interview. After Evening Gown I competition, the scores from each were added up for every contestant and the top ten finalists were announced.

"Everything looked great. I think people don't realize all the work that goes into things like that from the girls participation and the people behind the scenes," said Lori Leigh Mosley, a Goodman Campus freshman. "Everyone did a great job."

The stage was decorated in an extended gazebo setting. Lights, columns, Asparagus ferns, 200 yards of gossamer and yellow and burgundy garden mums were used to create this effect.

After Darren Dale, a student at Mississippi College, entertained the audience and a brief intermission, the top 10 finalists were given a chance to model their gowns for the judges one last time in Evening Gown II competition. The top ten finalists included Jennie Garrett, Karri Chatham, Jennifer Sanders, Tara Martin, Jamie Hill, Rebecca Moulder, Reagan Hughes, Tiffany Davis, Melissa Stamboulieh, and Johnlyn Evans.

With just 10 finalists returning to the stage, all of the previous scores were dropped. Once again, the remaining contestants modeled their gowns for the judges. The judges for the night were Pat Bell, a native of Kosciusko, and Louisville natives Patsy Clark and Lisa Fournet. They named four beauties and a most beautiful.

The beauties included Karri Chatham, Melissa Stamboulieh, Johnlyn Evans, all Ridgeland Campus students, and Rebecca Moulder, a Goodman Campus student. Most beautiful was Jennie Garrett, a Ridgeland Campus student.

What's Hot 2000-01

by Nicole Lollar

As years come and go, many different trends change, such as fashion, music, movie, and even television. Many of these trends can be found on the Holmes campuses.

Fashion is one trend that can be seen just by walking around the Holmes campuses. Some of the fashion trends according to Chrissy Sudduth, a Goodman Campus freshman from Coila, are leather and "funky Paw-Paw shoes," also known as Walabees.

Also, Latoya Forrest, a Goodman Campus freshman from Winona, and Iris Carr, a sophomore from Kosciusko, notice black leather boots, microbraids and belly and tongue piercings.

Tara Rosenberg, a freshman from Yazoo City, gets the latest news on her cell phone, the hottest new trend in communications on campus and beyond.

Another Goodman Campus freshman from Kosciusko, Matt Cauthen notices many popular brand names such as, Tommy Hilfiger, Nautica, Chaps, Old Navy, Levi's, Addidas, and New Balance.

Other fashion trends are platform shoes, fleece pullovers, snakeskin prints and boot-cut jeans.

Another type of trend that changes from year to year are movies. According to Mandi Jo Nelson, a Goodman Campus sophomore from Kosciusko thought that "The Patriot," "Gladiator," and "Mission Impossible 2" were top ranking movies. Also, Leandreal Robinson, a Goodman Campus freshman from Eupora, liked the new remake of an old Christmas classic, "The Grinch" and "Final Destination." Other movies that grabbed moviegoers more than once was "Remember the Titans," "Love and Basketball," "Coyote Ugly," and the ever popular "Armageddon."

A third trend that changes with each year is music. According to Sudduth, the girls in Yazoo Dorm have been singing along with all the new popular rap songs. Also, Nelson has enjoyed Madonna, N-Sync and Tim McGraw. But one song that could be heard all over campus this year was "Who Let the Dogs Out," by the BaHa Men. Also, whenever the Holmes Bulldog Band was around, the song "Sweet Dreams" could always be heard and was a definite crowd pleaser.

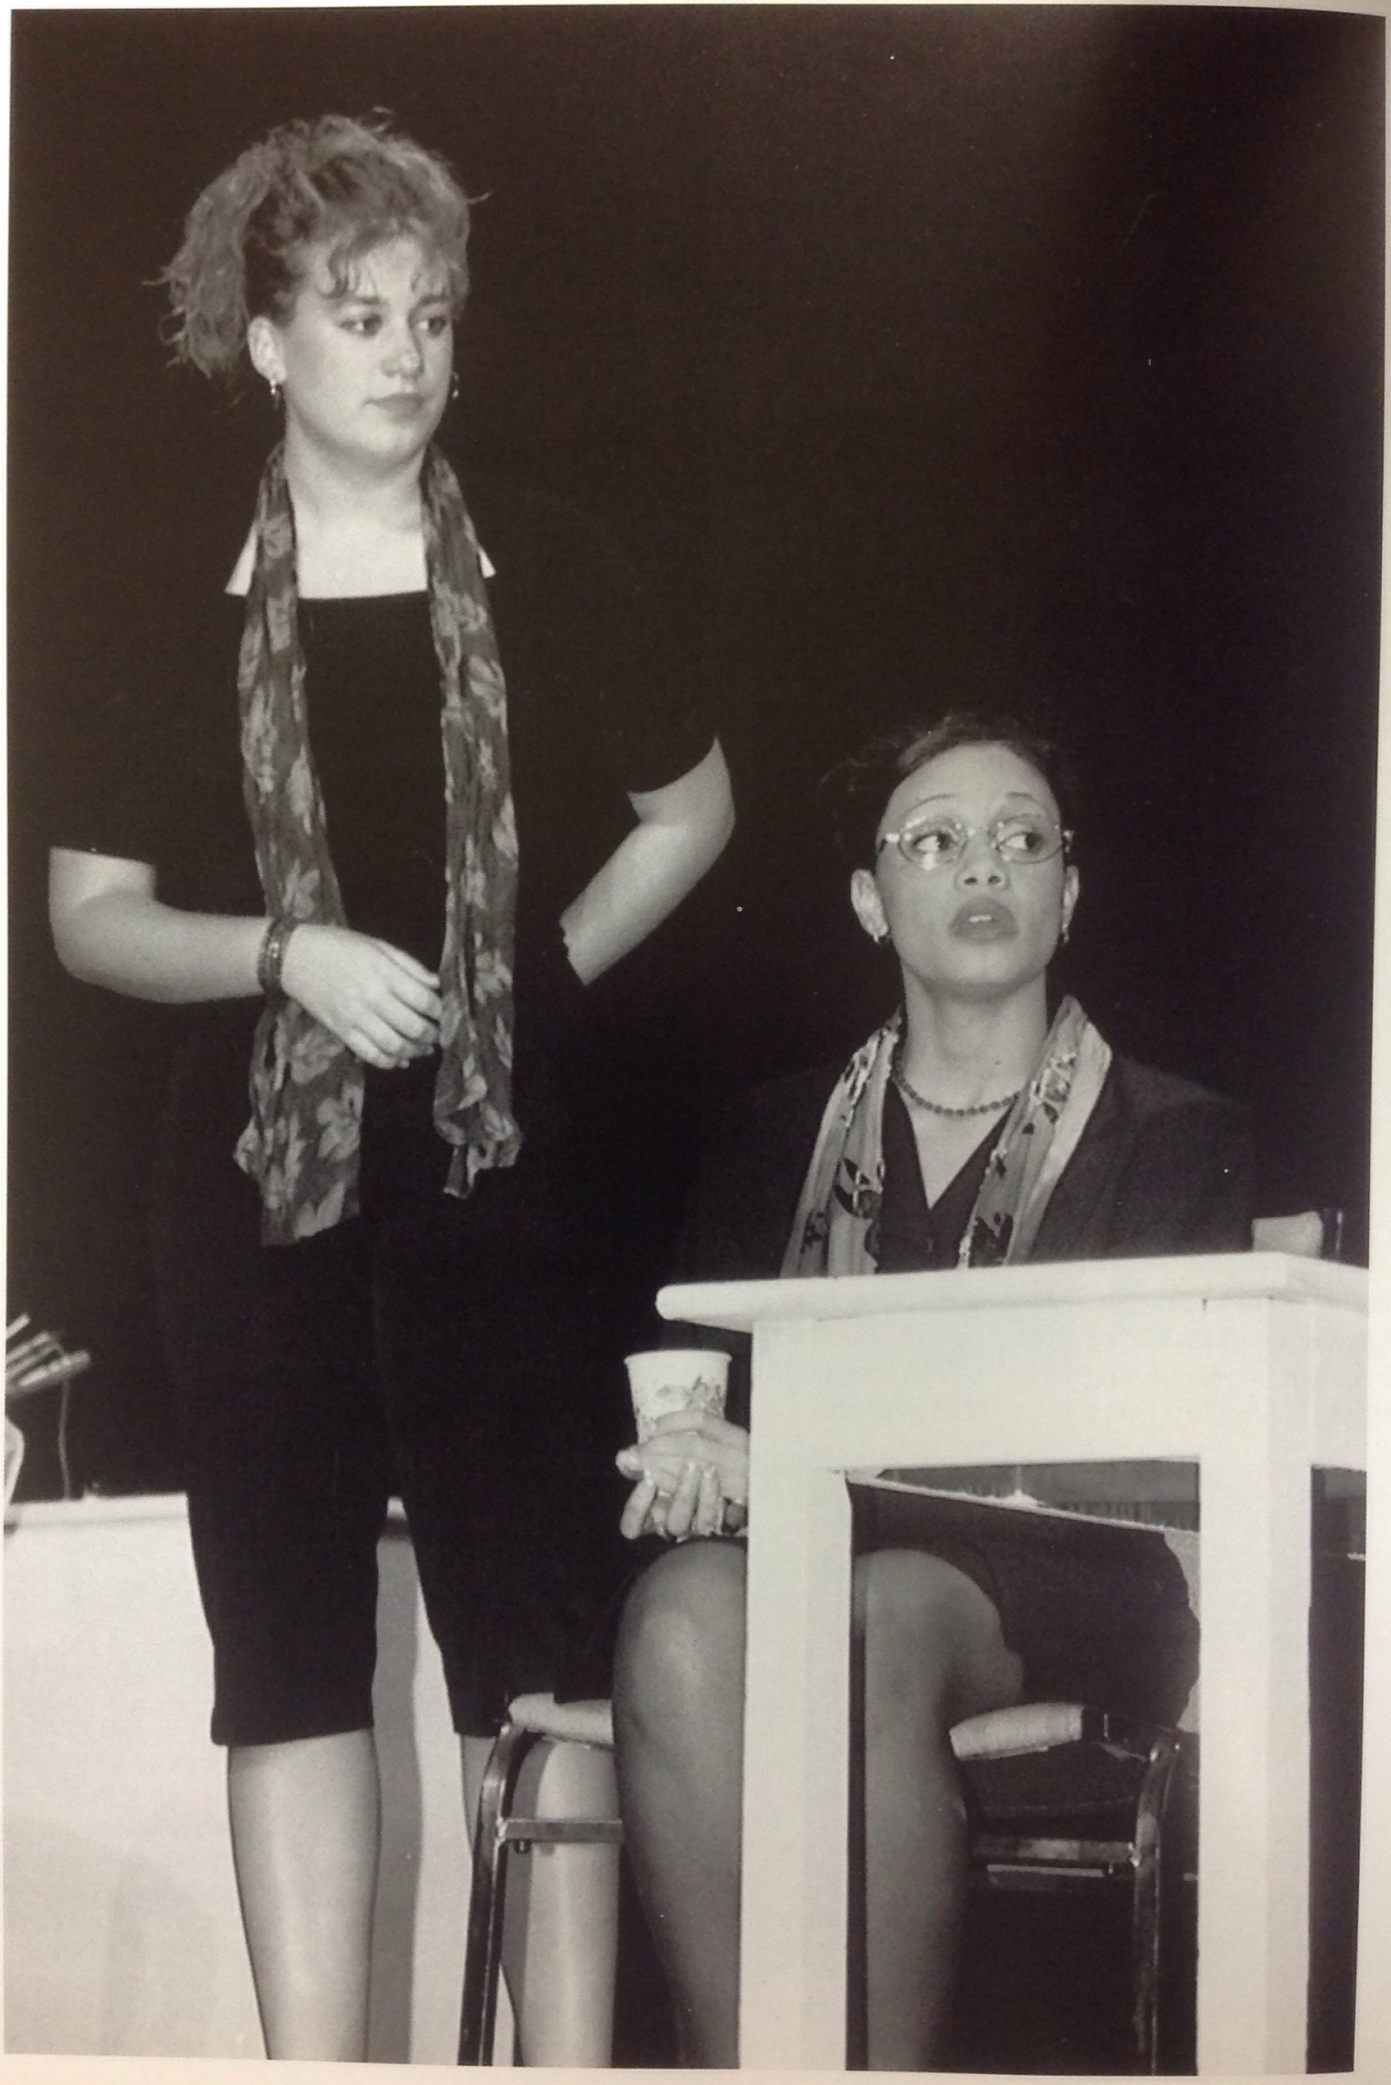

Other trends this year were BET, Ally McBeal, Friends, WWF and WCW on the television. Also, Beta Fish could be found on just about everyone's desk. But, the hottest new trend of the year at HCC was the cell phone. The different Nokia tunes could be heard from any building on the Holmes campuses. Even though years change and trends come and go Holmes Community College will always be in style.

Performance Clubs Take the Stage at Holmes

by Jessica Marter

If it's a club you're looking to join, Holmes has it. Whether you want to be in the spotlight or in the background, there is a club at Holmes that will fill any interest.

Instrumentalists can choose from a variety of bands to join. The Marching Band and the Jazz Band are headed by Gary Sheppeard, director of bands. The Steel Band is directed by Larry Bradford, assistant band director.

The Marching Band performed during halftime at football games. The band performed a Santana show this year and performed at 9 of the 10 football games. They also marched in numerous local Christmas parades and in Argus Mardi Gras parade.

"I thought it was a much improved, strong marching band this year," said Sheppeard.

Those students who enjoy singing will find an abundant supply of clubs to join at Holmes. The chorale perfomed primarily sacred music while The Holmes Connection! performs all types of music. Both groups are directed by Jan Reid-Bunch with Dr. Kathy King as the accompanist.

"Mrs. Bunch is a very hardworking and dependable person that you can always count on to get the job done," said sophomore Jessica Phillips.

The groups performed at churches and other venues all over the district. They put on two performances for the Goodman Campus each year; one is the Carols of Christmas, which is performed in the fall, and the other is the Pops Concert, which performed in the spring.

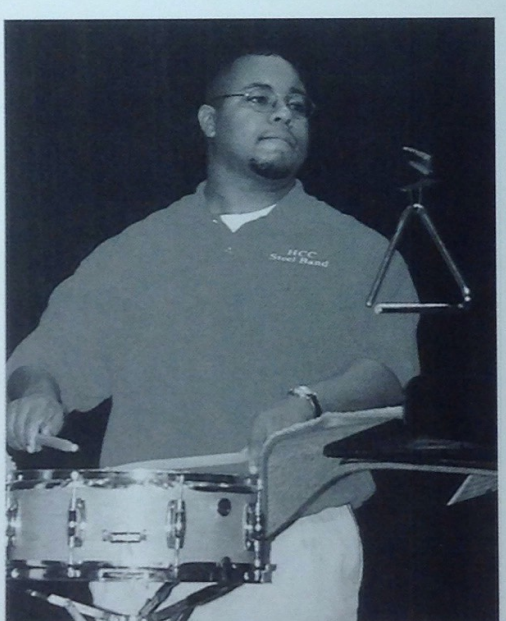

The Holmes Connection! is a show choir. They are a vocal ensemble that incorporates dance in their performances.

"The Connection! is a really dedicated group and I enjoy seeing them perform," said sophomore Rhonda Poole.

In the drama department, Holme-Towne Players and Delta Psi Omega work with adviser Lisa Okray to put on three shows this year. In the fall they performed "Steel Magnolias" by Robert Harling.

"We need a strong team to put on a good show," said Okray.

The performing arts clubs at Holmes Community College allow you to showcase your talents and skills to audiences, while interacting with other students who are also interested in taking the stage.

Holmes Clubs Put Fun & Service Together

by Opal Peacock

Service projects are an important part of the clubs at Holmes Community College. The various projects these clubs take part in help for the betterment of our school and community.

All three Homes campus Phi Theta Kappa chapters are active members in the "American Promise: The Alliance for Youth" program. The goal of the program is to mentor, protect, nurture, prepare and serve America's youth. The Goodman Campus chapter, Kappa Alpha, arranged for a group of PTK members to help the kindergarten through third grade children in an afterschool program at William-Sullivan schools. The members help the students with their homework and certain skills.

PTK has also continued to send members to the Goodman-Pickens Elementary School. There the members read stories and interact with the children by putting on puppet shows to help convey certain ideas. After attending the Goodman-Pickens program, Rosie Rigby, a sophomore from West, said, "It helps you feel good about yourself."

Alpha Mu Beta, the Grenada Center chapter PTK also gathered "shoe boxes" for the "Operation Christmas Child: Samaritan's Purse" program. The boxes were filled with an assortment of items including toys, pens, pencils, toothbrushes, toothpaste, and candy. The boxes were packed and sent to needy children all around the world. The other Holmes chapters of PTK also contributed.

The Baptist Student Union on the Goodman Campus has participated in service projects to help with local families. During the Christmas season, BSU members collected money, food, and various items to be given away to a family in Lexington.

Abigail Jenkins, a sophomore from Sallis, said, "Being in BSU makes me feel good to know that the little that I do will help save someone down the road."

BSU, in support of its local missions, sponsored "Backyard Bible Club" in the spring. The members traveled to Goodhaven Manner in Goodman where they read Bible stories, sang songs, and played games with the children.

The Wesley Foundation at the Grenada Center, now in its second year, has participated in the "Habitat for Humanity" program. After hearing speaker Millsaps Dye at their second meeting three students and sponsors Claudette Thomas and Bettye Parham traveled to Leland to help out with the local Habitat project. Dye's speech focused on Habitat being a way in which families and the community come together in a common goal, building a house for a family that needs it.

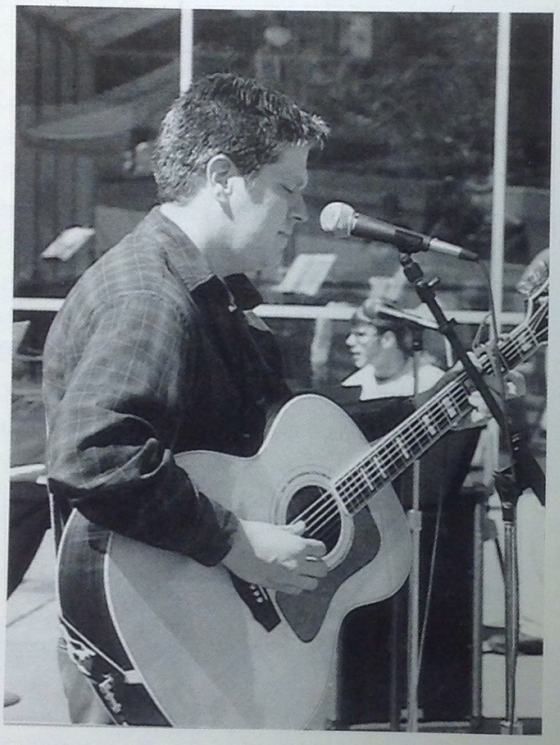

The clubs at Holmes have used a variety of means to help our young people, needy families and community. Whether it be reading a story, giving food, or even building a house, the clubs at Holmes Community College find a way to serve.

Club members learn to Take the Lead at Holmes

by Tina Mills

A number of clubs on the three Holmes Community College campuses promote leadership now and for the future. No matter what your interests are, there is a club for you at Holmes.

Members of the Student Government Association are elected by the students to represent the student body. The Grenada Dorm representative, Tammy Smith, commented "By being in SGA, I learned how to work with other people and how to express my opinions."

SGA sponsors many fun-filled activites on campus including the Winter Formal, Coffeehouse, skate night, movie night, and many events during Welcome week and Homecoming week.

Those of you interested in the business world can join Phi Beta Lambda. PBL promotes business technology and education.

Medical office technology major, Sylrhonda Small said, "In PBl, we learn business and leadership skills and how we can help others."

The Holmes Ambassadors is a student recruitment team that works to enlist future prospective students. Ambassadors attend career days at various schools, help with orientation and registration, give campus tours and advise students toward a successful future.

"Being an Ambassador has helped me to develop leadership skills that will help me in the future," said Rakenda Harmon.

Cosmetology is an eleven- month program that includes daily class meetings with hands on experience.

Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, VICA, is open to any student enrolled in a vocational or technical program.

Phi Theta Kappa is an academic organization. A student must acheive a 3.5 GPA to be invited to join and must maintain a 3.0 to hold thier membership.

Creative Arts Clubs is perfect for those of you who have a creative side. Bre' Davis said, "I joined this particular group to use creative arts as a way to express myself." She plans to generate the ideas that she learned in the Creative Arts Club for her journalism career in the future.

Tara Rosenberg is a member of the Math and Combined Sciences Club. The reason she joined was because "I am pursuing a career in science and I like meeting other people with common interests," said Rosenberg.

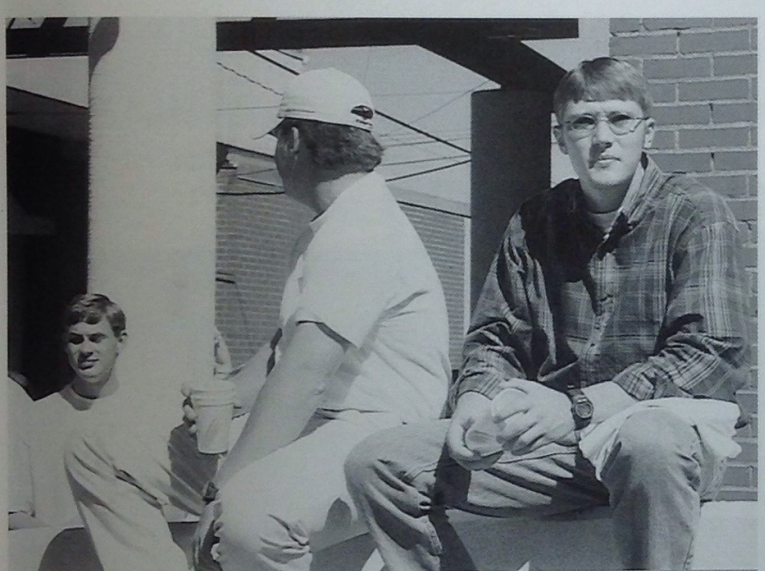

The main objectives of the Growl newspaper staff are "to keep first and foremost the students and then the faculty, staff, and administration aprised of what is going on at Holmes Communty College," said Jim Williams, adviser for the newspaper staff.

As a member of the Growl staff, Christy Burrell said, "I have had the opportunity to get better acquainted with the faculty and students of Holmes Community College. I have had the privilege of representing their opinions and presenting them to Growl readers everywhere."

The primary objective of the Horizons yearbook staff is "to provide a record of the school year for the faculty, staff and students that depicts all aspects of college life including classes and activites," said yearbook adviser Caron Blanton.

A psychology major, Jessica Marter said "Being on the yearbook staff has helped me to share my ideas and opinions in a group to accomplish a common goal."

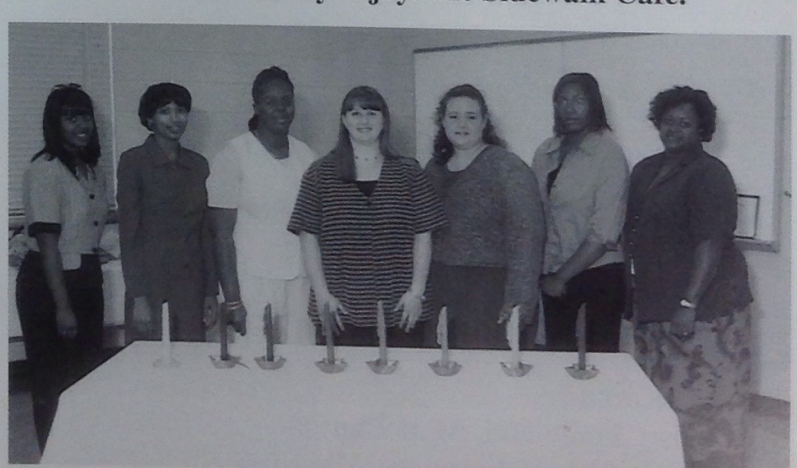

Being an active member in one or more of these clubs will allow you to develop your leadership skills. Being involved will also enrich your life and prepare you for the future.

play to WIN

The Bulldogs fight over the ball at the Pearl River game.

Football is a game played in four 15-minute quarters, but the time and preparation for the 60-minute game is tremendous.

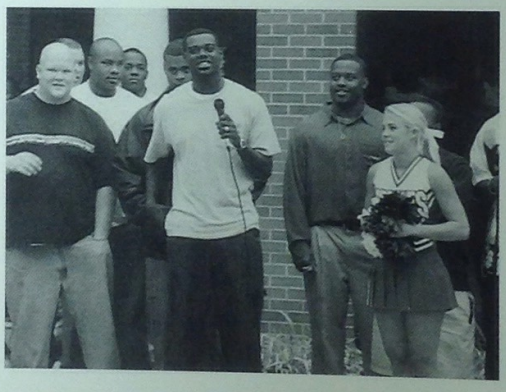

Players and coaches spend week after week getting ready for the football season. During the off season, players wake up at 5:30 in the morning to lift weights and condition.

At the beginning of the season, in 105 degree weather, football players practice twice a day.

The players and the coaches do this all for one reason: to win.

With the knowledge that end-of-the-season trophies, medals and championship rings are earned one down at a time, the men on the Bulldog football squad attack each opponent and each game with an intensity many teams reserve only for state championship games.

The Bulldogs demonstrate their dedication and determination with each first down, each score and each victory.

Along with all of the other sports offered at Holmes, the cheerleaders are also breaking new ground.

The athletes attended camp this summer at the University of Alabama where they learned many new cheers and stunts.

Throughout the football and basketball seasons, they can be found practicing every day, at every pep rally, or at all of the football and home basketball games.

Many of the traditional pep rallies such as the beach party, halloween and the jungle theme were back again this year.

The cheerleaders also helped with the annual homecoming parade. After the parade, there was a pep rally in front of Band Hall with the theme of celebration.

This year the Holmes Community College fully coed cheerleader squad was sponsored by Audra Kimble. The squad consists of five men and five women with Bully and Miss Bully.

They are co-captains Karmon Evans and Terri Schur, Candice Cockroft, Michael Summerlin, Chris Shelton, Jayson Harper, Courtney Smith, Dustin Binegar, Jamie Hill, and mascots Christy Burrell and Will Boatner.

SOCCER SHOWS Staying Power

by Kenyardia Johnson

Soccer is a sport that is played all over the world, but it is just now becoming popular in the United States. Holmes Community College began participating in intercollegiate soccer just a few short years ago, but in these few short years, Holmes has had soccer teams on all three campuses. Holmes has fielded both men's and women's soccer teams.

Last year was the first year that the Goodman Campus had both men and women's soccer teams. Today, there are two men's soccer teams, one on the Goodman Campus and one on the Ridgeland Campus, and a women's soccer team on the Goodman Campus. This year marked the third season for the women's soccer team and the second season for the men's soccer team on the Goodman Campus. The Ridgeland Campus soccer team was formed four years ago.

Coach Alex Tsema served as head coach for both the men's and women's soccer teams on the Goodman Campus, which Coach Mike Curley served as head coach of the Ridgeland Campus soccer team. Coach Tsema was in his third year of coaching soccer at Holmes Community College, and Coach Curley was in his fourth year.

"Overall both men's and women's had an excellent season," said Coach Tsema.

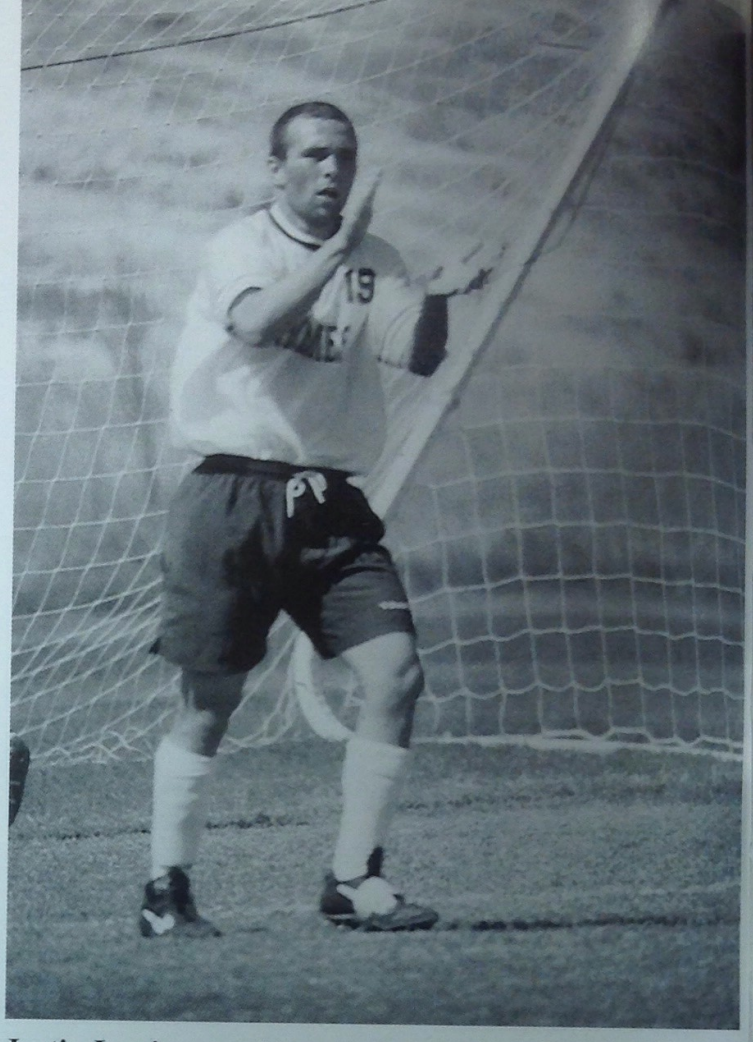

The women's soccer team was young and inexperienced, but the players feel that the bond they shared will last forever. The women's soccer team did not win a game this season, but sophomore players Melissa Stoner and Jennifer Derrick felt they gained a lot from playing this season.

"I learned a lot about teamwork and commitment to a common goal. Also, I learned a lot about soccer from Coach Tsema," said Melissa Stoner. Jennifer Derrick, a sophomore from Kosciusko, said, "I had a great time playing soccer for Holmes, and I will miss all of my teammates and Coach Tsema."

Both men's soccer teams expected more of their seasons, but gained experience and are steadily increasing their talent level. The Goodman Campus men's soccer team finished their season 2-6, and the Rigdeland Campus men's team finished 3-5-1. The players feel that a lack of depth contributed to them losing many close games.

"ALL the players did well considering most of our opponents' years of experience. Many games came down to the last seconds and a lack of substitutes cost us a few games," said Daniel Syrotuck, a player last year, now assistant to Coach Tsema.

On aspirations for next season, midfielder Victor Robinson summed it up in three words, "We'll be better."

Improvement LEADS TO A Successful SEASON

Todd Kimble
Men's Basketball Coach

by Rosie Rigby

The men's basketball team on the Goodman Campus of Holmes Community College worked hard throughout the season. While working hard, the players still managed to have a good time. Demarcus Parker, a freshman guard from Grenada, said that being on the team was "a lot of fun; you meet a lot of people and learn more about everyone."

Throughout the season there were "highs and lows," said Coach Todd Kimble, head men's basketball coach. Coach Kimble also added that they had a "young team, 11 guys played a night, nine of those 11 were freshmen."

As the freshmen adjusted to college basketball, he saw improvement as the season progressed.

To be a productive team, the Bulldogs had to spend a lot of time practicing. According to Jerrick Oliver, a freshman forward from Atlanta, Ga., practice lasted "two and a half hours a day."

Practice consisted of working on defensive plays and offensive set plays. Rod Newton, a sophomore from Yazoo City, summed up practice by saying they had to "fix what needed fixing."

The 2000-2001 men's basketball team strived only for the best and gave it their all throughout the season. They were very determined to do their best so they ran at night in the gym! According to Jerrick Oliver, if the team wasn't "hustling" they'd "be in the gym all night running." Jerrick knew the running would help them "in the long run."

Being a member of the basketball team was tough, but Rod Newton emphasized how it was an "honor and privilege" to be a part of the Holmes Bulldog team.

Summing up the season, Demarkus Parker said, "The season was good; the only problem we had was our defense and playing for 40 minutes, but we did improve."

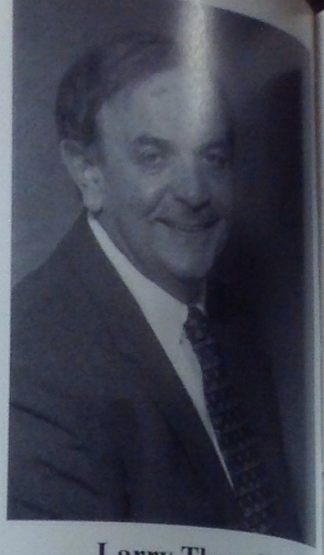

The men's basketball team had a great season. All the hard work and practice paid off. With each game that passed, the players grew closer together and learned even more about college basketball.

A Fresh NEW START

Larry Therrell
Women's Basketball Coach

by Rosie Rigby

On the Goodman Campus of Holmes Community College, the women's basketball team faced many challenges throughout the season. With only three returning freshmen, the Bulldogs had a fresh new team.

"Of our 15 players, we had 12 freshman that had to learn how to play college basketball," said Coach Larry Therrell, head women's basketball coach.

Coach Therrell also stated that the Mississippi community college league was a "huge change" from high school basketball. So it took a few games for the players to adjust.

It took a lot of time and dedication to have a successful team. Bobbie Rigby, a freshman forward from West, said that playing basketball was "hard work, but it paid off when we won."

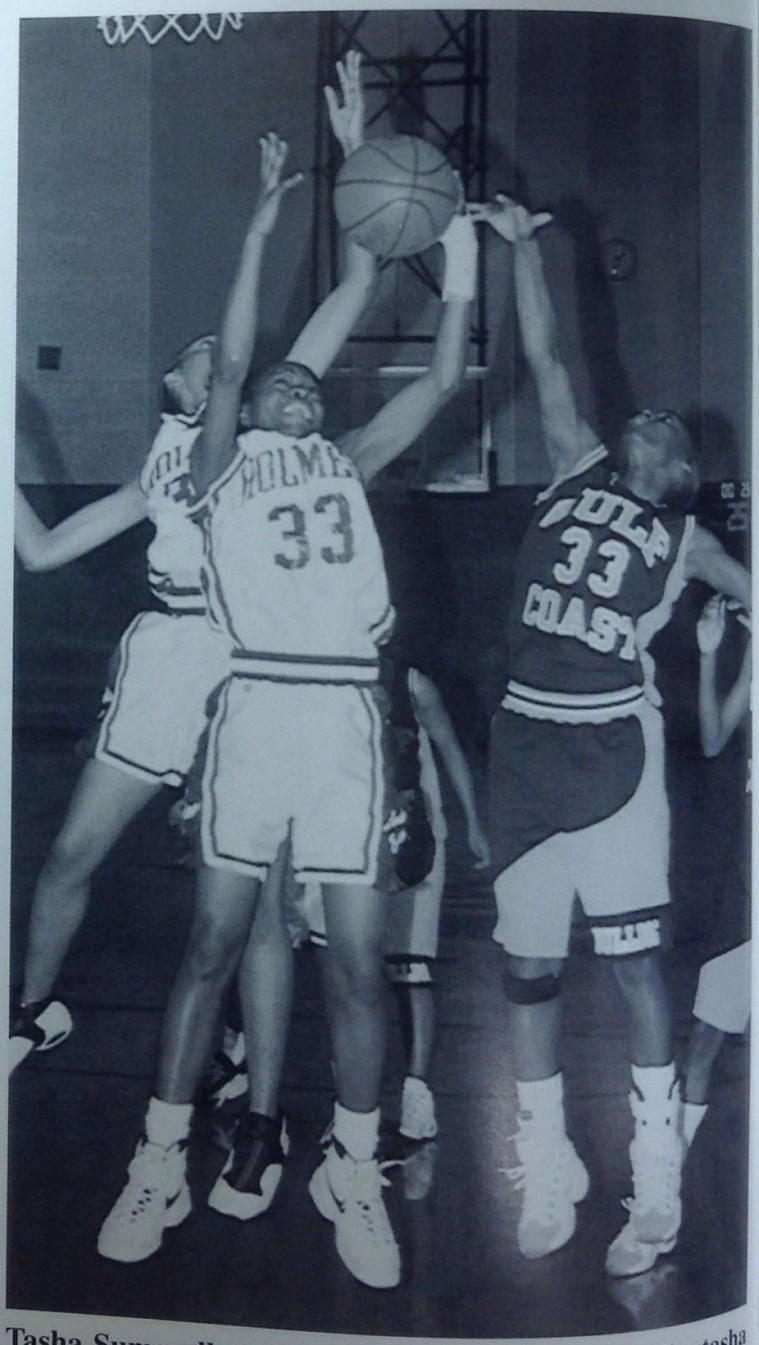

Practice was the key for the Bulldogs' improvement during the season. Monica Lee, a freshman forward/guard from Ackerman, said the team practiced every day except Saturday. On Friday, they sometime practiced at 6:00 a.m. All of the practices helped them become a better ball team.

According to Robyn Rogers, a freshman guard from Lexington, practice consisted of "going over plays and scrimmaging."

Academically, the Lady Bulldogs were the best of Coach Therrell's nine years of coaching. He said, "one student had a 4.0 and six others

Coach Therrell also added that he was proud of the "good attitudes" and "how everyone got along."

Monica Lee also was impressed with how well the team got along.

"It is important for the team to get along and we did," said Lee.

Being a part of the basketball team was a privilege. Bobbie Rigby stated that being on team led her to "making new friends" and learning more about herself. She added that it helped her "physically and socially."

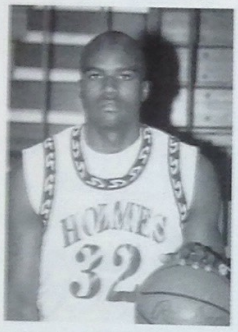

Dedication, patience and practice is what it took for the women's basketball team to be productive. The Lady Bulldogs had a successful season in which they worked hard and learned more about the game.

Practice MAKES Perfect

by Rosie Rigby

On the Goodman Campus of Holmes Community College, the Bulldog baseball team spent many hours both in the spring and fall, practicing and playing ball.

Many players agreed that playing baseball was tough. It took courage, patience and dedication. The baseball team practiced every day.

"Practice consisted of batting, situations, pitching drills, running and lifting weights," said Ryan Mitchell, a freshman from Eupora.

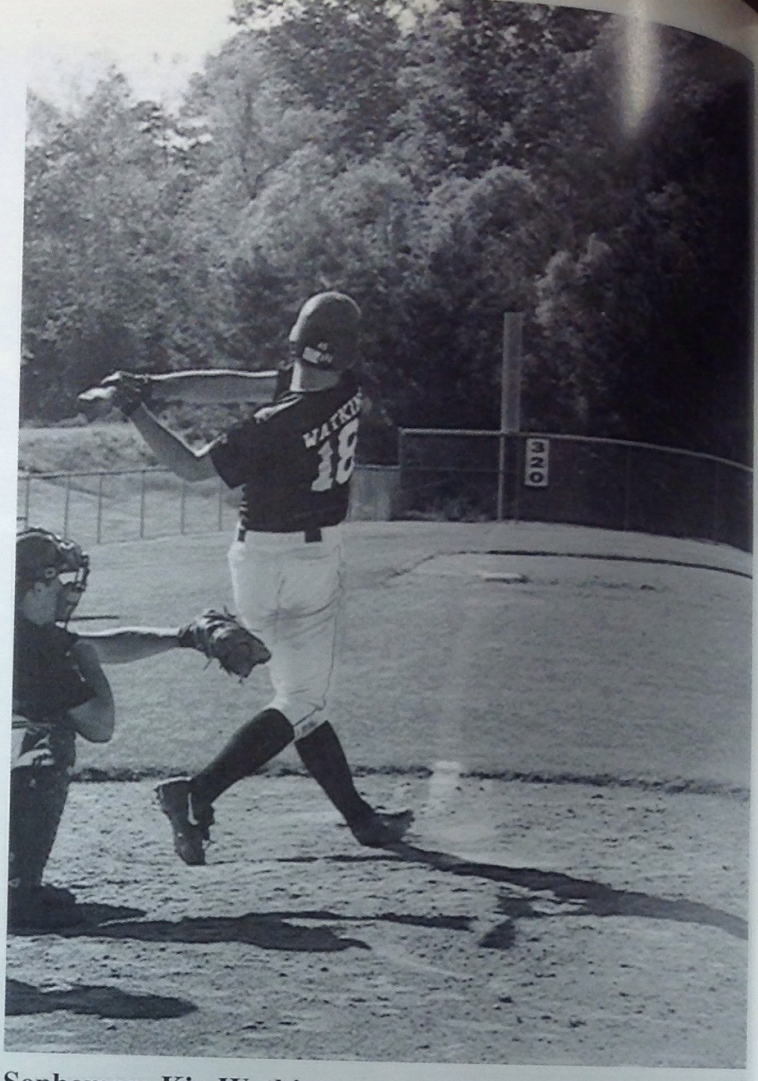

Even though practice seemed rough at times, during the games, it paid off. Robby Horne, a sophomore outfielder, said that playing baseball showed him how "talented" he was and that it made him "feel good" about himself.

To be a member of the team was an honor for the players. A freshman from Winona, Keith Townsend said that being on the team "meant a lot" to him.

This year's baseball team was different in many aspects. Head Baseball Coach Kenny Dupont explained that this year's team was different because they lacked the out-of-staters.

Horne also noted some differences in the team. He said the members of this year's team had "better attitudes" which allowed the team to "play better together."

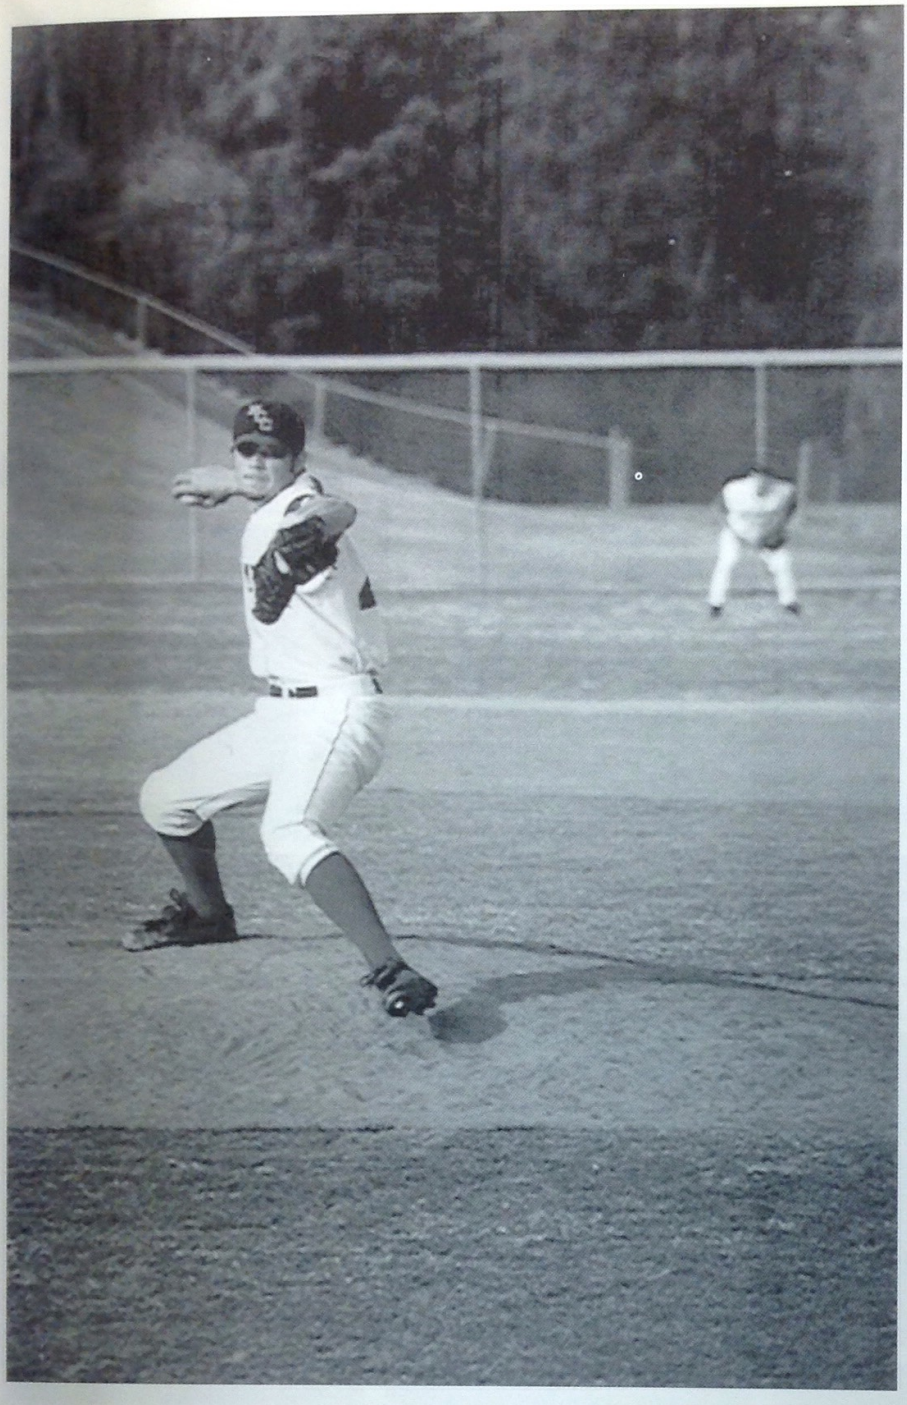

Coach Dupont's Diamond Dogs baseball team worked throughout the season. While becoming closer as a team, the freshmen and sophomore players also learned more about college baseball and game experiences.

NEW Fast Pitch BRINGS Excitement

by Jessica Marter

Women's softball is a relatively new sport at Holmes Community College, but even more recent is this year's switch from slow pitch to fast pitch.

Softball was added to Holmes in 1994. This is the team's first year to use fast pitch. In years before the team always used slow pitch. The move to fast pitch has changed the team in many ways.

Fast pitch requires underhand fast throw and is more like baseball. It has base stealing and more strategy on the part of the coaching staff.

"I think the games are more interesting to watch since the switch to fast pitch," said freshman Jennifer Smith.

The women's softball team is coached by head coach Dan Edwards and assistant coach Terry Fancher, who joined the team in 1998.

"I think we have future potential on the team this year," said assistant coach Terry Fancher.

To prepare for the spring, during the fall the team plays around 10 scrimmage games with other surrounding area schools. The girls also have six weeks of fall practice with the coaches, then the girls practice on their own.

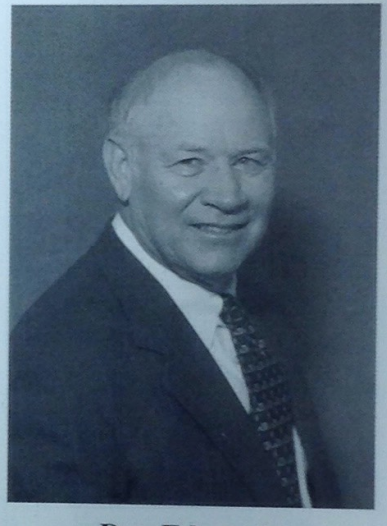

"We work hard so it takes self-discipline to play," said sophomore Amanda Kendall.

The team practices Monday through Thursday. They use a physical conditioning program to stay in shape. The team lifts weights four times a week and does a stretching program before practice.

During practice Coach Edwards takes half the girls and practices defense while Coach Fancher works on the offense with the remainder of the girls.

"The practices are really hard, but I love the team and getting to know the other players," said Freshman Anna Boone.

The women's softball team at Holmes Community College is an athletic program that allows women to play a game they love while working hard at their skills and getting to know other students with the same interests.

KIMBLE BREAKS New Ground AS Golf Coach

by Rosie Rigby

Head men's basketball coach Todd Kimble faced a new challenge this year by adding a sport he had never coached before to his coaching duties.

An avid golfer, Kimble was named the golf coach this year.

"Coaching golf and playing golf are very different," said Kimble. "You don't have to be a great golfer to correct someone's mistake."

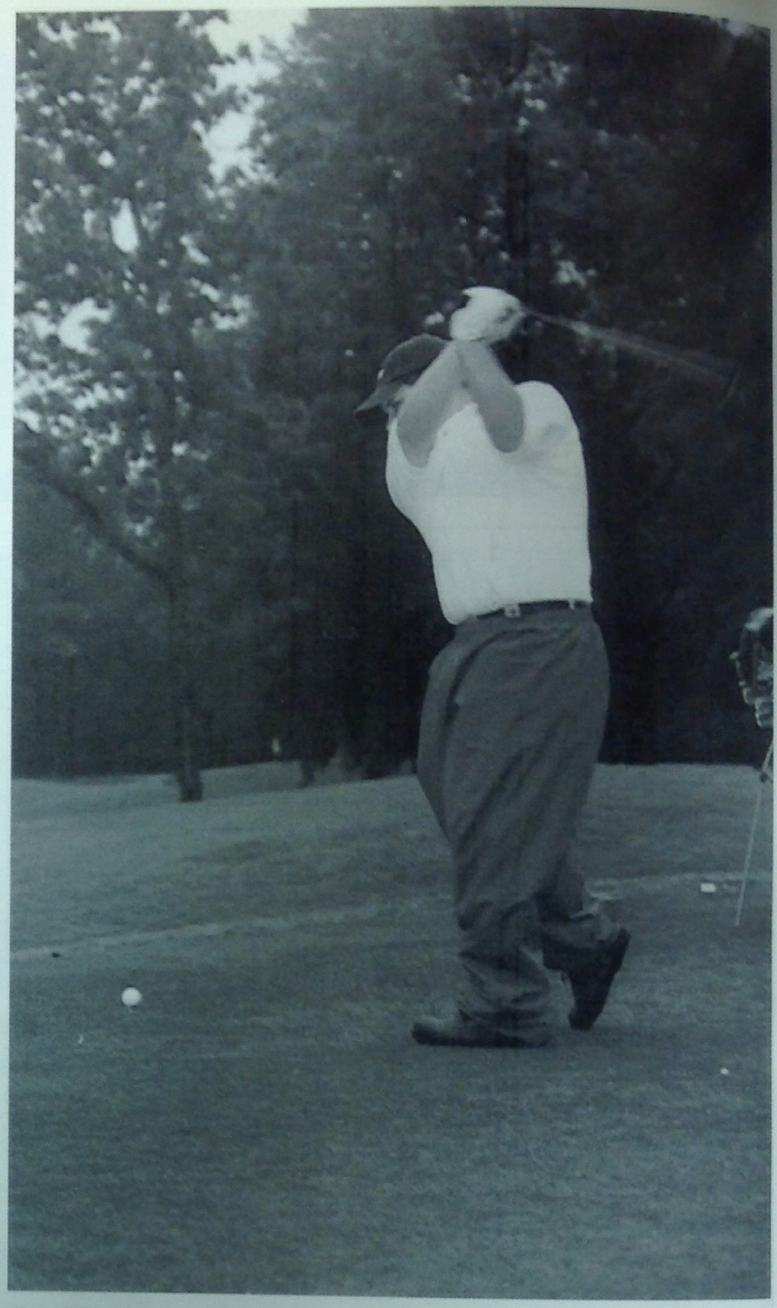

With golf, mistakes were made often. That's why practice was important. Jared Gray, a freshman from Calhoun City, practiced six days a week and hit "one hundred balls a day" to prepare himself for a game.

Coach Kimble said that in practice they concentrated on the "golf swing." He said that a "golf swing is a muscle memory" and you have to practice the "mechanics" to develop a good swing.

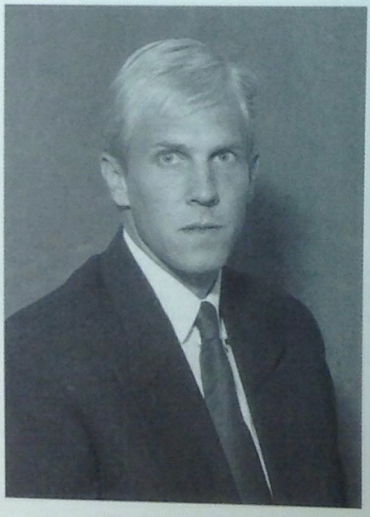

Being a member of the golf team was a "good experience" for Daniel Adams, a sophomore from Yazoo City. He expressed that he had "fun" when they traveled and played at different golf courses.

Ben Black, a sophomore from Calhoun City, stated that practice consisted of "putting and hitting the golf ball to a certain spot." To Ben, golf was "a very competitive sport" of which he felt he was a big part.

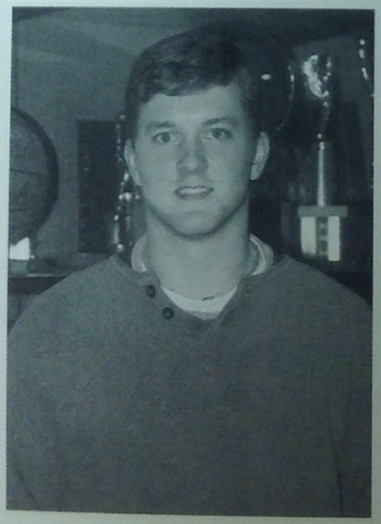

Coach Kimble summed up golf by stating, "The more you play, the more bad habits you create; then you correct them. Practice allowed the golf teammates to become better and have a successful year.

Tennis team TAKES ON Competition

by Julie Eastland

J.J. Johnson puts power into her volley.

The Holmes Community College tennis team is coached by Andy Wood, now in is his second year as tennis coach in this position.

The team worked extremely hard this year to prepare for their rival matches. Training begins during the fall semester when the players take an optional tennis class.

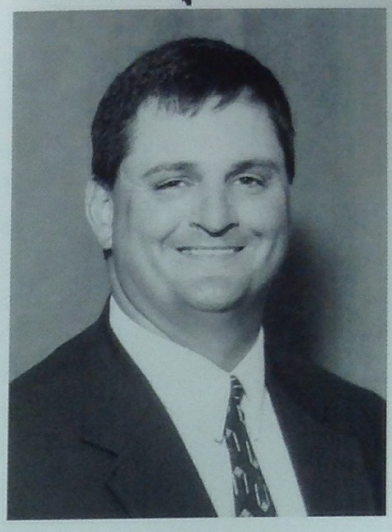

This class is designed to sharpen tennis playing skills and get the players in better shape. If the players opt not to take the class, they are responsible for getting in shape on their own.

The tennis team began practicing during the early part of the spring semester. Practice was held every Monday through Thursday at 1:30. At practice, Coach Wood worked hard to get his players in shape.

Practice consisted of a lot of running and playing scrimmage games.

This year's tennis team is made up of five men and five women, including J.J. Johnson, Leslie Bierstine, Jennifer Derrick, Amber McCaulla, Ashley Bruce, Michael Whitehead, Matt Tucker, Matt Cauthen, Philip Pickle and Russell Casteel.

"Playing tennis at Holmes for the past two years has been a really great experience. I'm going to miss the bond I shared with my teammates and Coach Wood," said Jennifer Derrick, a sophomore from Kosciusko.

Track team TAKES Great Strides

by Ray Cross

Andrew Curtis, a sophomore from Ackerman, glides easily over the hurdles.

After being dropped from the list of athletic offerings for a number of years, the track team is back strong, continuing a rich history at Holmes Community College.

"Being on the team is something I have always dreamed about and now it's finally here. It makes me feel like my goals are geeting closer to becing achieved," said team member Noah Bryant. "Being on the team is like a great award."

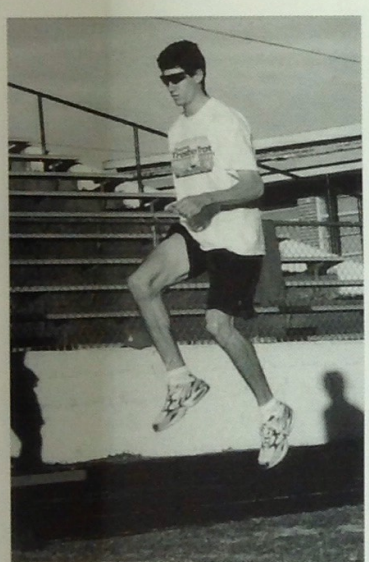

During practice Bryant tries to work his hardest because in due time he feels like it will pay off.

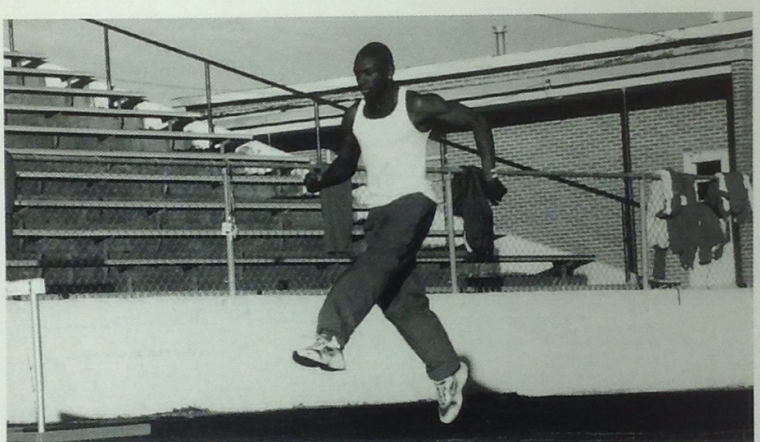

Coach Alex Tsema said that members of the team practice every day. During practice, team members lift weights, run on the treadmill, jump and throw. Tsema said the team members focus primarily on conditioning, preparation and technique workout during practice.

Team member Anubis Fleming said, " It takes a lot of hardwork and endurance to make it through the conditioning drills."

Fleming prepares for track meets every day.

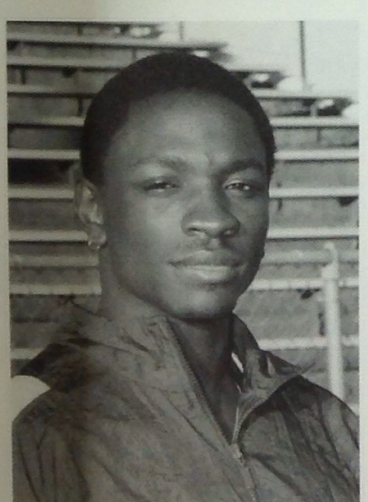

"I enjoy being a team member because I enjoy the competition with the larger universities, such as Ole Miss & Louisiana Tech," said Fleming. "Competing with larger universities makes each team member strive for the perfection that these and other universities have. During practice, each member of the team works on form and running drills such as high knee and straight legs."

What new things have you experienced this year?

I have met new people and participated in SGA and Phi Theta Kappa. I had fun racing stock cars at Fall Fest. I also had lots of bonding at Lake Ti'Okata with the other Ambassadors. It is more fun to be in school if you are involved in activities.

What new steps have you taken in your career?

In the past two years here at HCC I have gained more knowledge of the subject and what exactly I will have to experience when I go to graduate school. I try my best to gain more knowledge about radiology by talking to people who are radiologic technologists and contacting hospitals. I am so excited about being a part of that field and being able to work with and help people!

What do you think of the new additions to Holmes?

What's the best new trend this year?

Students realize that this is a special place. From the caring staff to the friendly atmosphere, Holmes make all students feel welcome and comfortable.

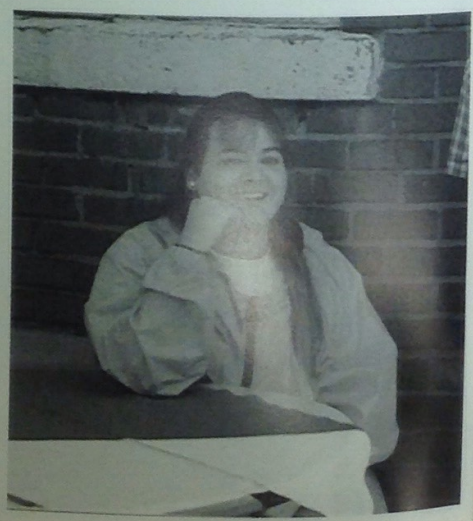

Classes at Holmes are very diverse. They range from academic courses, such as zoology, to technical programs, like business and office technology, to vocational programs, such as cosmetology. Holmes gives students the coursework and training they need to achieve their career goals.

There are many fun activities to get involved in at Holmes. If you are experienced in music, Holmes has a marching band, steel drum band, jazz band, Concert Choir, Coachmen, and The Holmes Connection! If you are creative and love to write, join the Horizons staff, the Growl or the Creative Arts Club. Holmes tries its best to provide you with enjoyable activities. Clubs and Organizations at Holmes are very popular among the students. There are a wide variety of clubs ranging from the Wesley Foundation to Phi Theta Kappa. Many students enjoyed getting involved in these organizations.

There are many different sports at Holmes that offer great scholarships and opportunities. One of the newest sports at Holmes this year was ladies fast-pitch softball. The Lady Bulldogs had an exciting first year. There are many other sports at Holmes such as baseball, basketball, football, track, tennis, soccer, and even golf! Students love to participate in these sports and the fans love to support the Bulldogs.

Holmes has helped better the education of students from all over the world. It is constantly getting better. Holmes broke new ground this year with the construction of new buildings for faculty and students. Students also broke new ground by getting involved in new activities and building lifelong friendships. Holmes will continue to improve in the future and make the facilities and the atmosphere even better for the students in the future.

Editor's Letter

As the 2000-2001 editor of the Horizon, I would like to thank the faculty, administration, students, and the enthusiastic Horizons staff. It takes everyone's cooperation to make this memorable book a success. I appreciate Mrs. Blanton for her advice, guidance, and encouragement. She's a wonderful person and advisor. I also want to commend the Horizons staff. They have been a wonderful group to work with. Thanks for all the many hours of work you've put into the yearbook. Also, I'd like to thank those students who took time out of their busy schedules to provide us with their wonderful quotes. I truly appreciate your efforts. Most importantly, I thank God for giving me the ability to participate in such activities. He is my reason for happiness. I hope that this special book portrays the many memories we all have experienced at Holmes. I hope that in the days of darkness we can look back in our yearbook and smile. May God bless you!
